

PLANES DAMAGE JAP WARSHIPS AT MANILA

The War Today...

By DeWitt MacKenzie
AP War Analyst

THE MYSTERY OF HITLER'S whereabouts is rapidly assuming the proportions of one of history's prime thrillers, and it's likely to have a profound influence on the German people and consequently on the trend of the war if it develops that the Fuehrer of the super-race is incapacitated.

Propaganda Minister Goebbels has set all the wheels of his great machine turning to convince the Reich and the world at large that the dictator isn't ill, mad or dead but is in "excellent, vigorous health." Still the fact remains that the Nazi chief's people haven't heard from him directly in about four months. The bomb attempt on his life was July 20. The next day somebody representing himself as Hitler went on the air to say that the plot had failed. Since then there's been a great silence on the part of the Fuehrer, and it seems significant that his captains have been working overtime to provide excuses (and very lame ones) why the master hasn't appeared personally. Why should they be so anxious to make a secret of an affair that would be treated openly in any normal country?

I think the answer is clear enough. Hitler has been absolute in his dictatorship for more than a decade. His control has been so complete that all Germany has come to think of government in terms of this one man. His personality has dominated the whole country, and has had a particularly powerful hold on the young generation which has been reared to fanaticism on the pap which he provided. True, within recent months it has been reported that the bloody-minded Himmler, chief of the Gestapo and the home troops, had got Hitler under his power and was the real ruler of Germany. Well, that could be true. However, if it is true I don't believe the German public knows it.

THE PEOPLE have stuck with the man who tore up the treaty of Versailles and all but conquered Europe—but my observations in Germany lead me to believe they wouldn't long follow anyone else while their world is crashing about their ears. Without Hitler the government would be close to helplessness in the present crisis.

It's difficult for anyone who has not actually seen it to realize how completely the evil but in many ways hypnotic Hitlerian personality has dominated the Reich. I've reported in previous columns that Hitler's hold on his people has been more than political. Many of them have regarded him as a messiah—and an air-tight politico-religious is hard to beat.

Thus it isn't strange that Hitler's Turn to WAR TODAY, Page 8

Congress Reconvenes But Won't Consider Business Agenda For Several Days

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Congress reconvened today for a six weeks' flurry of activity, but decided to wait a few days before getting down to work. Neither senate nor house had anything to do for a while. But Sen. Vandenberg (R., Mich.) supplied material for some future chores by offering a bill to freeze Social Security payroll taxes for another year at one per cent each on employers and employees.

WPB O. K.'S COPPER FOR CIVILIAN GOODS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—The War Production board today promised "prewar serviceability" for a variety of metal products by allotting 16,000,000 additional pounds of copper alloy for civilian use this year.

Safety pins, slide and snap fasteners, scales, plumbing equipment, staples, church goods, and silver-plated table flatware were among items to which the metal was restored.

WPB said, however, that the improved products will not reach the market for some time because manufacturers still must order the copper alloy and process it.

HUB OF ACTIVITY

Memorial Building One of Busy Spots In City. Records Show

War or peace-time, business booms as usual at the Memorial building.

Those facts are evident when you consider last month's packed full roster. For the month of October the building handled 11 different meetings and served 1,170 people at 19 different occasions.

Those facts, compiled by Joe Kelley, manager of the building, would indicate that meeting dates and places are a much sought-after item in Salem and further indicates that the city's recreational center is being well used by the public.

Besides all that total of dinner meetings and business affairs, the building also accommodated its regular athletic program.

Just to give you an idea what might go on in an average day, glance over this roster of meetings listed among activities at the building last month.

One day the surgical dressing and sewing groups met, a Red Cross meeting was held, dinner was served to 40 Rotarians and 30 Quota club members, the draft board met, and a dancing school session was held.

Another day that week 50 Kiwanians were served dinner, an OPA meeting was held, the Fairmount Children's home band of 50 was fed at noon, a Boosters club met, and surgical dressings group went on.

Unofficial estimates would place the monthly accommodation of the building at around 4,000 to 5,000 people.

BOARD MEMBERS ON PROGRAM OF P. T. A.

Conducted by Supt. of Schools E. S. Kerr, a discussion of "The Board of Education Looks at Education" was given by board members at a meeting of the Junior High school Parent-Teacher association last night at the school.

Lunch was served by the social committee during the social hour. The next meeting will be held Dec. 11.

Detachments Return To Assist Russians In Fighting Germans

(By Associated Press)

LONDON, Nov. 14.—The first Norwegian detachments to return home since the ill-fated 1940 campaign have landed in Norway and are operating with the Russians against the Germans on the Arctic front.

The Norwegian exiled government announced tonight. The vanguard, small but specially picked and highly trained in Arctic fighting, sailed recently from a north British port.

Hoping for early liberation of their country, the Norwegians also sent a military mission, composed of representatives of the Navy, air forces, and a number of government departments.

The first units of Norway's police force, trained in Sweden during the past two years, are expected to arrive later this week in territory liberated by the Russians. Many of the Norwegians who landed at an undisclosed Arctic port were Commandos who had participated in the British combined operations against Norwegian islands last year.

The official announcement said the military mission was led by Col. Arne Dahl, commander of the famous Alta battalion during the last bitter days of the 1940 campaign around Narvik. The mission, however, is under control of Maj. Gen. William Steffens, Norwegian military attaché in Moscow.

The Norwegian troops are under the direct command of marshal Kirill Meretskov, Russian commander in Norway.

A German foreign office spokesman declared that Sweden "is being systematically exploited by the belligerent America as an assembly place for its bombers," the Berlin correspondent for Afton Bladet reported.

U. S. TROOPS TAKE FOURTH FORTRESS IN METZ DEFENSES

(By Associated Press)

LONDON, Nov. 14.—U. S. troops seized a fourth and powerful fortress south of Metz today, and piled through the newest breach in enemy defenses to within 3½ miles of the besieged city.

Supreme headquarters identified this latest prize as Fort L'Yser, a half-mile northwest of the town of Orny, and described it as a powerful system of underground defense works.

So far as was known at Supreme headquarters, Fort L'Yser fell without resistance from its turreted batteries—just as Fort L'Aisne and two satellite bastions to the southwest were taken yesterday. L'Aisne was the first of nine main fortress groups in the Metz system to fall and L'Yser the second. They were stormed by troops of the Fifth division of Lt. Gen. Patton's Third army.

The Americans pushed on into the Hoptal forest for their closest approach to Metz, and were striking toward that city from the south along a nine-mile front. Nothing in front dispatches indicated any stiffening of resistance, and the apparent German pullback suggested Metz itself might be forfeited to avoid encirclement of its strong garrison.

Even as this fourth fortress fell, and all of Metz' roads of reinforcement or retreat were brought within artillery range, doughboys on the left flank of the 70-mile Third army front shoved forward in their Moselle bridgehead to within 1½ miles of the German border near the Luxembourg corner.

South of Metz, the Seventh army pushed forward in two-mile gains at either end of a 10-mile front, spreading the U. S. attack into the snow-drifted foothills of the Vosges mountains.

Fifth division units, punching through unexpectedly light resistance, had captured Fort Aisne and two of its satellites near Verdun yesterday, and seized the towns of Conry, Pommereux, Verry and Lichon.

Two Salem Soldiers, Buddies Four Years, Are Home From Italy

Buddies together since their induction into the Army four years ago this month, Sergt. Edward Pukalski and Technician Fifth Grade Joseph Oliver of Salem, have arrived home on 30-day furloughs from the Italian front.

Both are decorated with the campaign ribbons of three major battles, and, in addition, wear the Good Conduct medal and European Theater of Operations ribbon. Five stripes on their sleeves represent 30 months overseas service.

Sergt. Pukalski is visiting his mother, Mrs. Caroline Pukalski of Park ave., while Tech. Oliver is visiting his wife, Ruth Lantz Oliver, of N. Lincoln ave., and his father, William Oliver.

Sergt. Pukalski was employed by The Salem News when he entered the service four years ago this month. Oliver worked at the Westinghouse plant at Mansfield. They trained at Fort Knox, Ky., and went overseas with a tank regiment, having been stationed in Ireland, then England before being sent to North Africa as that country was invaded.

From there they were sent to Italy, landing a few days after the first invasion. They have been in action there ever since. In August the pair was sent to a replacement camp and sailed for home the latter part of October, arriving in this country on Nov. 7. Both will report to the redistribution center in Miami Beach, Fla., on Dec. 5.

In Italy recently Pukalski met his brother-in-law, Pete Marino, whom he had never seen before. Other Salem boys he met in Italy before sailing for home included George McFeeley and Bruce Whitcomb. The latter was recovering from battle wounds.

American Rifleman Count More Than 640 Jap Dead In Leyte Battle

By LEONARD MILLMAN
Associated Press War Editor

Attacks on growing Japanese concentrations on western Leyte island paid off with the highest one-day toll of Nipponese dead in the Philippines campaign, front line dispatches reported today as Tokyo radio said 400 United States carrier planes had renewed their attack on imperial warships in Manila bay.

On other fronts Chinese troops advanced five miles in North Burma and a Pacific fleet commander acknowledged enemy forces had taken an islet in the Palau group, east of the Philippines.

Tokyo radio announced waves of American planes struck Monday and Tuesday (Philippines time) at Manila bay, Cavite naval yard and Clark field.

"There was some damage to our warships," principal target of the raiders, the broadcast said.

It claimed 34 United States planes and five Japanese were shot down in an hour-long "violent air battle." Other United States air squadrons, Tokyo added, swept the length of the Philippines.

Count 640 Jap Dead

On western Leyte island conquering rifleman of the 24th division counted 640 Japanese bodies on the slopes of Breakneck ridge, with a field of uncounted dead stretching out in front of them, Associated Press War Correspondent Fred Hampson reported.

An American commander expressed belief the bloody battle, combined with night-long shelling of enemy concentrations at Limon, broke the northern Japanese force as a fighting unit. Infantrymen were closing in on them from the north, which Hampson reported was an apparently unharmed mass of wreckage when the United States artillerymen ceased firing.

Elements of five Japanese divisions have been thrown into the narrowing fight on western Leyte island. Reinforcements are still slipping in by barge at night.

But "the enemy's general preparations for counter-attacks" have been frustrated by the steady pressure of American infantrymen, combined with devastating artillery and aerial bombardments of Japanese concentration centers, Gen. Douglas MacArthur reported today.

Japs Fly In Reserve

The new mountain, taken by the dismounted First division cavalry outflanking the enemy, is Mt. Cabunagan. It represents a two-mile gain from Mt. Catabaran. From the two peaks artillery can sweep most of the Yamashita defense line and its supply trail.

In a resurgence action in the Palau group, 515 miles to the east, 200 Japanese recaptured Ngerong islet as a United States marine patrol hastily withdrew without casualties.

The islet flanks Denges passage into the Palau lagoon. United States warships immediately blocked the passage and heavily shelled the Japanese. Adm. Nimitz announced.

The main Japanese fight was obviously in the Philippines, their forces on Leyte were estimated at between 45,000 and 60,000, and still growing. Air replacements were continually flown in. Twenty-three Japanese planes were destroyed yesterday over Leyte and other central Philippine islands. Two United States planes were lost.

"Increasingly strong opposition" met the 24th division pushing toward Ormoc. The 96th division broke organized resistance in central Leyte valley.

Getting On With It

In the full following the quadrennial airing of the nation's political issues, James F. Byrnes, director of war mobilization, is first to speak out clearly in behalf of more vigorous prosecution of the war.

Unquestionably, Americans are now in a mood receptive to all sound suggestions for getting on with the war and getting it finished. The time is ripe for re-invigorated leadership from the nation's executive officials.

The need is not for exhortation, of which there has been more than enough in the past, but for direct instructions. For example, what the people would like to know, since it is impossible for them to comprehend all the intricacies of war production, is where specific shortcomings exist.

Mr. Byrnes speaks of the nip-and-tuck race between supply and demand in munitions and declares that shells are being loaded before they are cool, due to the necessity for supplying fighting fronts. He mentions long supply lines and the astronomic demands of our armies abroad.

This is wholly a problem of wartime government—this satisfaction of public curiosity about the things that need to be done better. There is a crying need for clear, factual statements, for continuing summaries of events abroad and at home, for direct instructions, in some cases, to the workers in certain industries and localities to increase their efforts.

Among the many areas of agreement revealed in the election—full employment after the war, participation in international efforts to secure peace, encouragement of private enterprise—greatest of all is agreement on bringing American fighting men home from abroad at the earliest possible moment. Anything tangible that government might suggest to hasten the termination of the war would be received gratefully.

The Secret Is Out

The ultimate secret about Germany's new secret weapons is the new concept of war which they embody.

They represent a technique of carrying war to the heart of an enemy over the enemy's defense. The technique began to emerge in the first World war, with Germany's experiments in bombing British cities from airships. When the airships finally were offset by development of high-altitude planes and ground defenses, stress was shifted to the precursors of today's bombers.

In its preparations for this war, Germany depended heavily on its development of fighting aircraft; it relied on them to defeat Britain without a frontal attack and came perilously close to success. But in the meantime its scientists were working on the weapon of the next great war—the self-propelled projectile which now has taken practical form as the robot bomb and the high-altitude rocket.

These are the fighting implements which Germans will rely on in the future, and by that token they also are the implements which other nations must rely on if another war is permitted to occur. Nothing could make a stronger case than they are making for the necessity of international cooperation, not to stop wars after the circumstances of war have been created, but to stop the circumstances.

When G. G. Meets G. G.

Congressional formality being what it is, there will be no bristling of coiffures when Rep. Clare Boothe Luce, the charming Republican member from Connecticut, meets the new Democratic congress lady from California, Rep. Helen Cahagan Douglas. While the circumstances of politics have thrown the two ladies into a kind of rivalry, chiefly for publicity purposes, it is probable their glamor girl roles will be suppressed when they leave the campaign stump for the legislative desk.

Still, it may as well be admitted that the terms of conflict are intrinsic in the fact they have become symbols of divergent points of view in politics—so the prospect in the 78th congress is not without points of interest. The Congressional Record, which should be required reading for Americans, long has suffered from a dearth of dramatic copy. With a little imagination, it is possible to believe there may be days after next Jan. 20 when congressmen will find themselves besieged for extra editions of the esteemed publication, if Rep. Luce, the veteran, and Rep. Douglas, the freshman, clash on the floor of the house of representatives. The Congressional Record may get on the best seller lists yet.

The Stars Say

For Wednesday, November 15.

THE MUTUAL and lunar aspects for this day point to an inclination to investing the energies and resources in enjoyment, the pursuit of pleasure or other forms of indulgence and excess rather than in any sort of constructive programs or laborious effort, although the energies and faculties are found to be keyed to almost any practical performance or accomplishment. A bid for promotion, honors, favors from those in power, might find abundant reward, but not with indulgent, impulsive or rash behavior of tactics. Care in law, with writings or speech, are advised lest there be danger and loss or regrets.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is are at the threshold of a year of definite openings for promotions, preferment, sound enterprise and creative performance and worthwhile objectives or ambitions, but also there are opportunities for indulgence, extravagances, excesses and neglect of opportunities for the lure of pleasure or emotional excitement, with perhaps dangerous engagements with litigation, or in connection with agreements, writings or speech. With a determined effort to travel the more profitable and worthy course, with control and moderation in all contacts there might be excellent returns for the energies and resources invested. Subdue rash impulses and strange emotions.

A child born on this day should have much energy and talents for sound and practical success in life, but is likely to be lured to the paths of pleasure, by its unrestrained impulses and emotions, with probable regrets and loss.

Interdependence

By James Thrasher

Premier Stalin made a good speech and a heartening one on the occasion of the anniversary of the Soviet revolution. It was sober, factual and statesmanlike, and much less inflammatory than the writing in some of the journals that reflect his government's attitude.

The Russian leader's latest address came at a propitious time as far as this country is concerned. It served as an antidote to Izvestia's unwarranted and unsubstantiated piece of the day before, which hinted at a "fake attempt" on Governor Dewey's life in a last-minute "Reichstag fire" attempt to rouse the public against American Communists.

It tempered other intemperate comments on our political campaign in the Russian press. And it did much to counteract that strange trade, also in Izvestia, questioning the presence of American troops in Iran—though no one knew better than the Russians that the sole reason for their presence was to expedite delivery of American supplies to Russia.

Perhaps one of the most heartening things about Mr. Stalin's speech was his statement on postwar international policy, which sounded almost word for word like what we had been hearing from both presidential candidates.

When Mr. Stalin speaks it is with the authority of the Russian state. Thus there is comfort to be derived from his confident assertion that a new, strong, peace-loving international organization "will be effective if the great powers, which have borne the main burden of the war against Germany, will act in future also in the spirit of unanimity and accord." And, such being the ways of diplomacy, there may be great future significance in his reference to Japan as "an aggressive nation."

But what might be of greatest long-range importance (at least for Americans) was Mr. Stalin's stressing of Allied interdependence, his ready admission that, while the second front could not have succeeded without the Russian bulwark in the east, neither could recent Russian successes have been possible without the full-scale offensive in the west.

We Americans are prone to forget that obvious interdependence. Some of us seem terrified of hurting Russian feelings, and are so oversolicitous as to blandly accept Soviet attacks on one of our political allies.

Allied interdependence will not cease with victory. The help, leadership and good will of this country, perhaps the world's strongest, will be indispensable. That being so, it seems neither isolationist, subversive nor anti-Russian to ask why we cannot honestly question Russian diplomatic policy on occasion even while we admire Russian courage and virtues, and why we cannot conduct our own domestic affairs without feeling apprehensive.

Our boys overseas are doing their share of the work to be done so a war can be won. Are you?

We have word that Jap ships and German planes are all headed in the same general direction—down!

Many people are looking forward to a postwar building boom that will scare high rents away.

If Dad could only label his wallet "Do Not Open Till Christmas!"

Yesterday is over—tomorrow is still to come: today is the day to buy more War Bonds!

Most successful men are too busy to think up secrets of success.

GUARDING YOUR HEALTH

Tropical Diseases Discussed

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
I HAVE just had the opportunity of examining a number of soldiers who have returned from overseas service. Some of them have been in the Near East, which includes Syria, Iran, Egypt, Turkey, Iraq, Arabia and Ethiopia.

They have some peculiar diseases over there, at least peculiar to a doctor who has been practicing in the United States. But our medical officers assigned to duty in those regions have been instructed in Tropical Diseases and have made some very valuable investigations on their own.

A chronic condition which affects some of the men seems to be due to prolonged residence in this climate. It is partly the effect of heat and humidity, although other impalpable factors may also enter into the causation.

Blood Thinner.
The old saying that "the blood gets thinned out in the tropics" is literally true. The red blood cell count which in our climate is normally around five million per cubic millimeter falls to three million.

This is not due to an actual decrease of the plasma or fluid content of the blood. In the effort to get rid of body heat, the superficial capillary vessels of the skin dilate more or less continuously and permanently and in order to fill this enormous capillary bed the body compensates by making more blood plasma. The blood pressure also falls permanently for the same reason.

There results a change in the blood and vessels of the brain which causes peculiar personality changes. The individuals become very irritable, and also surprisingly forgetful. There are stories of men starting out on errands to see somebody and forgetting who they were going to see and what they were going to see him about. It is a rule in the Near East that you must write everything down in a notebook if you are going to remember it for five minutes. They imagine insults and quarrel over the most trivial matters. Inability to concentrate on a mental problem is very marked.

Chances Of Recovery.
Fortunately the outlook for complete recovery for such cases is extremely good. A few weeks or months in a temperate climate works miracles in personality adjustment. The old rule that the "colonial" should return home at least once every two years for a prolonged rest is a sound one. But in the meantime we must be sympathetic with some of our returning who have been through the experience, and exposed to such unfamiliar climate conditions.

There also results a lowered resistance to infection, particularly respiratory infection. Strange to say, colds are more common in the tropics than in our own climate.

But this has long been familiar to American physicians in Panama, as I learned once when privileged to visit some hospitals in the Canal Zone. Of strictly tropical or local diseases there is not much to fear. The Egyptian sand fly fever is an acute although prostrating illness and there is no chance that it will be carried back here. The various dysenteries known as "Delhi Tummy" and "Gippy Tummy" etc., are also acute and run a definite course. There is little or no chance that they will be implanted in a country with modern sewage and sanitary facilities.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
A. B. C.—What are the symptoms and cure of alcoholic neuritis?
Answer: The symptoms are pains and in the advanced stage paralysis. Cure is by abstaining from alcoholic beverages and use of concentrated Vitamin B.

B. D.—Three months ago I had a blood test which showed 149 units of sugar. My doctor told me that 100 was normal and gave me insulin to take. Now after taking it, my blood sugar is 84, but the doctor tells me to keep on with the insulin. If 100 is normal why do I have to keep on with insulin?

A.—The underlying cause of high blood sugar—diabetes—will keep on raising the blood sugar and this condition has to be reduced daily indefinitely. But I should think a diet would be advisable besides the insulin.

T. Y.—Would you please tell me why a dentist refuses to use gas for extraction?
Answer: Partly because a local anesthetic is just as effective, perhaps because of the personal idiosyncrasy of the patient. Some people take gas well, some do not.

• SO THEY SAY

The war has entered its last and most decisive phase. There is no getting off the train now—you must go all the way. Be fanatical and rough in defense of your homeland.
—German army newspaper.

The temptation to call it a day might be stronger than we can now realize. That, my friends, would be the moment to fear, not for ourselves but for our sons and grandsons, lest they should have to fight this dreadful war over again in the next generation.
—Joseph C. Grew, former ambassador to Japan.

Today we find some disciples of government preaching a doctrine of continued control over private enterprise, and that means control over individual initiative. We had more than 150 years of the American way of life before we began to hear this kind of talk. It must be stopped now.

—Henry Ford

The world is crashing about us; our people are fated to assume new and awful responsibilities; and we spend our time congratulating ourselves on our marvelous educational system, a system in spite of and not because of which our country has been rich and powerful.

—Robert Maynard Hutchins, president U. of Chicago.

America has given an example to the world of how democratic institutions can be worked with the utmost vigor and freedom without injury to the permanent interests of the state.

—Winston Churchill.

You Gotta Think Quick

By STANLEY PALEY Copyright, 1944, NEA Service, Inc.

XXVII

It had been drizzling all evening, and now the rain came down so hard on the skylight that it drowned out the radio. I stretched out my legs, turned the volume up a little, and once again the exciting tones of Strauss's Don Quixote filled the room.

The divan I was lying on was exactly beneath the skylight and I was staring at the pattern made by the streams running down the glass. I thought about this kind of weather when Mickey had rented the place, and now our divergent theories were being put to the test. I declared that the whole works would look at the first sign of rain, and she'd maintained that it would be perfectly all right. We'd argued the point and I'd finally asked Mickey what she needed to live in a studio apartment for if she wasn't an artist. Pointing to some of the paintings that the previous tenant had left in lieu of rent she'd said that he wasn't an artist, but that he had settled the matter for all her remore looks. Mickey was quick on the trigger.

So far the rain hadn't come through the skylight and my moment of triumph was slow in materializing. After a while I got tired of the zapping divan and stretched on the rug before the fire. As the last strains of the tone poem faded down, I could hear the clatter of dishes in the kitchen.

"Mickey," I called, "why don't you quit making that racket and come and entertain Papa?"

She came over to the fireplace, dried her hands, and knelt down on the rug beside me.

"Because the dishes won't do themselves," she said softly, "and because Papa is such good company for himself that he doesn't need entertaining."

"A fine way to talk to a guest!"

"Guest my eye! You've practically become a boarder!"

She was right. I was beginning to take these home cooked dinners for granted. So what? She enjoyed them as much as I did.

"You should feel flattered," I said, "that I make some pretense of relishing those unholly messes you concoct."

For a moment this got her really mad. Then she saw the grin on my face and picked up the cue. She assumed the expression of a martyr.

"God!" she exclaimed. "What have I done to deserve this? Working my fingers to the bone! Bending over a hot stove all day!"

It was fun, lying there and kidding back and forth. She was the first girl I'd ever known that I

Amazing results shown in improving the Looks... boosting VITALITY!

1—Promote the flow of vital digestive juices in the stomach
2—Energize your body with RICH, RED BLOOD!

Improper diet, overwork, undue worry, colds, the flu or other illness can impair the stomach's digestive strength and reduce the red blood strength.

A person who is operating on only a 10 to 25% healthy blood volume or a 50 to 60% normal digestive capacity of only 50 to 60% normal is severely handicapped. At such times Nature needs extra help to restore its balance and function properly. Undigested food places a tax on the system, insufficient blood strength is a detriment to good health.

If you are subject to poor digestion or suspect deficient red-blood as the cause of your trouble, yet have no organic consumption or focal infection, S.S. S. Tonic may be just what you need! S.S. S. Tonic is especially designed (1) to promote the flow of VITAL DIGESTIVE JUICES in the stomach and (2) to build up BLOOD STRENGTH when deficient. These two important results enable you to enjoy the food you eat, to take use of it as Nature intended. Thus it may not be new vitality... pep... become animated... more attractive!

Build Sturdy Health and Help America Win

Thousands and thousands of users have testified to the benefits S.S. S. Tonic has brought to them and scientific research shows that it gets results—that's why so many say: "S.S. S. Tonic builds sturdy health and makes you feel like yourself again." At drug stores in 10 and 20 cc. sizes S.S. S. Co.

Life Brightens for Saipan Children

At top, a little Saipan boy's face beams as he races around the ring of his playmates to "tag" one of them. The youngster above, in his homemade go-cart, doesn't seem very happy about it. "Mother's Little Helper," left, taking home the family water bottle, trudges along with her little brother, almost as big as she, strapped to her back.

New worlds are opening to the children of Saipan as a result of the U. S. occupation of this former Jap-held island. Thin, undernourished bodies slowly regain strength through proper diet in the civilian camp erected under U. S. Army supervision, where the birth rate is from 10 to 15 babies a day. Photos above show some of the aspects of the happier life liberation from Japs has brought.

Col. Zemke, Fightingest U. S. Pilot, Now Missing

(By Associated Press)

A UNITED STATES FIGHTER BASE, England, Nov. 13—Col. Hubert Zemke of Missoula, Mont., known as the fightingest American fighter pilot commander in Europe, is missing in action, it was announced today.

The boyish-looking 31-year-old colonel, who turned down desk jobs and possible promotion to general to keep flying, was shot down inside Germany Oct. 30 while leading his Lightning-Mustang fighter group on a bomber escort mission.

Zemke was leading American fighter pilots over here at that time with 28 planes destroyed—22 in the air and six on the ground. Three days later Maj. George E. Preddy of Greensboro, N. C., ran his total to 29½—23½ in the air and six on the ground.

The Gas Flame is My Guide to Better Living

Diagram showing the benefits of gas flame: BETTER HOME HEATING, BETTER REFRIGERATION, BETTER COOKING, BETTER WATER HEATING, BETTER AIR-CONDITIONING.

Gas that has done such a wonderful war job helping to turn out our weapons, will bring many comforts and conveniences to our new homes.

That Gas flame certainly is versatile and I've made it my guide to the better living we expect after the war. I've enjoyed its advantages for years, but I understand that research will make all Gas equipment even better.

And added to the grand job Gas has been doing in home heating, cooking, refrigeration, and water heating, Gas is going to give us full scale summer cooling of our homes that will be the last word in healthful comfort and convenience.

My post-war home will enjoy all the new freedoms that only gas brings—with its cleanliness, convenience and economy.

P. S.—Buy and hold those War Bonds so YOU'LL be able to invest in new Gas equipment as soon as the job is over—over there.

Boys Still Outnumber Girls In New Births

(By Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—The stark is still bringing more boy babies.

The Census bureau, reporting 1943 birth statistics today, said that of 2,935,171 live births 1,507,122 were boys and 1,428,049 were girls. This ratio of 1,055 boy babies to 1,000 females follows a pattern that has been evidence since the government began collecting such figures in 1915.

Of its recent pronouncement that women now outnumber men in the total population for the first time in the country's history, the bureau explained simply men on the average die three or four years sooner than women.

Allan Richards and Mrs. R. C. Brant of Pittsburgh Sunday afternoon the group all attended the open house golden wedding celebration of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Votaw of Guilford.

LEAVES FROM A WAR CORRESPONDENT'S NOTEBOOK

by Hal Boyle

WITH AMERICAN TROOPS IN GERMANY—Battle briefs:
Three times the German artillery has taken the seat of his pants off Pfc. William G. Mashburn of Covington, Ky.—but that's all. He hasn't been killed personally.
Bill lost his first trousers seat at Breckinridge, then he was sent to a command post. Later he lost another while taking cover in a trench. The third disappeared when he took his attention off the Nazi artillery to watch a strafing plane.
Now he's on his fourth pair of pants—and looking both ways every time he stands up.
Equally lucky is Staff Sgt. Frank V. Leeper of Washington, Pa., who was in one day almost lost the rear end of his anatomy by being buried in a foxhole by shellbursts.
Getting buried once in a foxhole no longer is a novelty in the European war, but Leeper, also a Second division doughboy, is one of the few to survive this as a double feature within 12 hours.

One afternoon a German shell crashed nearby, caving in his foxhole and covering him completely. That night he had just crawled thankfully into a new hole when another shell buried him up to his neck. His mates dug him out again.
A patient soldier is Pfc. Troy L. Doss of Warrior, Ala., and also a stubborn soldier.
A bullet nicked his trousers leg as he was digging a foxhole. He kept right on digging. A second shot grazed his legging. He looked around, then went back to his digging. A third shot nicked his finger. Stopping only long enough to be sure it wasn't more than a scratch, he resumed his digging, this time with some irritation.
Then a fourth shot tore through his overcoat. Doss sighed and gave up. He found a less exposed site for his foxhole.
A maintenance crew led by Lieut. Telling J. Tilton of El Paso, Tex., was repairing a tank in the Siegfried line area when German artillery opened up.
Finding the turret and guns of the tank in good order, the repair crew decided to get a little battle experience. They opened up with return fire and knocked out one particularly annoying enemy gun.
A deer that fled through the lines of the Second Infantry division did not have a chance. It escaped a hail of rifle bullets from hungry GIs, then ran headlong into a German booby trap.
Venison was on the menu the next day.
Pfc. Ernest Jenico of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., played a game of hide and seek for his life with several Germans—and won by being a decoy.
Cut off and surrounded while on patrol, he made a break toward his lines with the Jerries padding after him through the woods. Exhausted, he finally flopped under a fallen tree and prepared to fight it out.
But the unwary Germans lumbered on past him—right into the arms of an American outpost, and thence to a prisoner of war cage.
Mortar shells flushed two German snipers from a factory building Friday evening with card prizes awarded to Mrs. George Hartman, Mrs. Myron DeJame, Mrs. Emilie Guchemard and Mrs. George Morrow. Mrs. Howard Feicht will be the next hostess.
Bridge club members were entertained Friday evening in the home of Mrs. Ralph Warner at Salem.
Honors were won by Mrs. Glenn McNeelan and Mrs. Helen Weikart. Mrs. Walter Berg will be the next hostess.
Mrs. Rose Woods has received word of the transfer of her son, Joseph, of the U. S. Navy, who has been stationed in New York. His address is: Joseph E. Woods, 2000 2nd U. S. S. Trumpester, D. E. 180 care Fleet Postoffice, New York, N. Y.
Mrs. Glen Jackson entertained at dinner at her home in Leetonia Wednesday evening, in honor of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Weikart's 38th wedding anniversary, and Mrs. Weikart's birthday.

Washingtonville

The Elizabeth class of Trinity Lutheran Sunday school held its monthly class meeting in the church parlors Wednesday evening.
The meeting was in charge of the president, Mrs. Eva Slack. Mrs. Maurice Wisler led the devotionals and the entertainment was in charge of Mrs. Walter Berg. The next meeting on Dec. 13 will be the annual Christmas party, when a covered supper will be served and "secret pals" revealed. Officers will be elected for the coming year.
Mrs. J. A. Stauffer was hostess to the Fort-Nightly club members Wednesday.
Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Baker, Mrs. Erma Indermill, Mrs. Margaret Spear, daughter Helen, Mrs. George Pirth, Mrs. Frank Stouffer and Mrs. Louis Stouffer. Card prizes were awarded to Mrs. Albert Spear, Mrs. Ansel Senheiser and Mrs. C. R. Taylor. The guest prizes went to Mrs. Louis Stouffer and Mrs. Margaret Spear.
The next meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. C. R. Taylor.

Smooth Road Lies Ahead For Travelers; Rail Lines Plan To Meet Competition

By S. BURTON HEATH

NEW YORK—A thorough face-lifting job is being planned for the nation's railroads, to begin just as soon as production facilities are available for peace-time manufacturing. Rail lines are preparing to meet competition of airplanes, buses and private transportation with an aggressive bid for the enormous travel business that most observers predict.

Lower fares are predicted, with cost per mile estimated at 1 to 1½ cents for coaches and 2 cents for Pullman. Present rates are about 2 cents in coaches and 3 cents in Pullmans.

Beauty treatment for rail lines will see ancient coaches replaced with lightweight, air-conditioned cars. Split-reclining seats, good lighting, adequate luggage space and washrooms will be features of smoother-riding quiet cars. Post-war coaches will be so comfortable that many roads think Pullman chair cars are on the way out since they will not attract enough patronage.

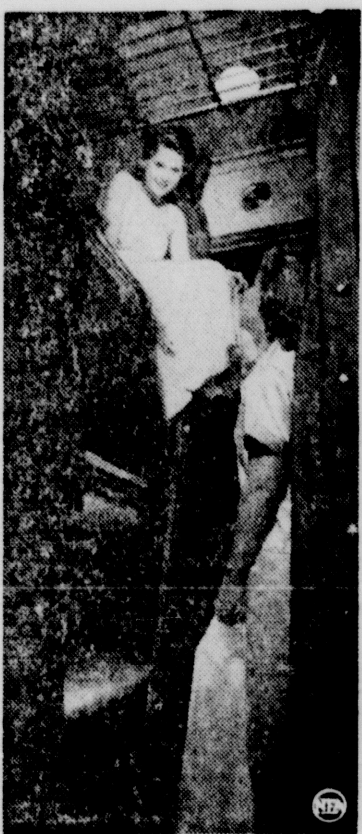

Old-type Sleeper Extinct?

The Pullman Company believes now that the day of the old conventional sleeper, for the premium-fare trade, has passed. Probably no more will be built. These now in use will be shifted to the "cheaper" tourist-Pullman trade. They will be supplemented—for those who want to travel overnight inexpensively by the new three-tier sleeper. Four experimental three-tier units have been in military use during the war on a transcontinental line.

For those able and willing to pay a premium price for de luxe Pullman accommodations, a private room may be provided for the charge now made for a lower berth. This would be in a new duplex roomette car. One has been in use throughout the war on the Pennsylvania Railroad's Washington-to-Chicago run. It has proven popular but experience has suggested 100 improvements and refinements that are being incorporated in a second car now under construction. Bedrooms and other de luxe types of night travel space will be continued.

Soon After War Ends

Not even the lowly, harassed commuter is being ignored. Pullman has announced a new "Three-word that her husband has been transferred from France to Belgium.

Rev. Walter R. Williams who spent the weekend in Rollins, Mich., attended a committee meeting at the Cleveland Bible college today.

Miss Janet Shreve spent Friday night with Miss Anna Mae Starbuck of Salem.
Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dezell attended a banquet in Akron Saturday evening for the 23rd Engineers.

Mrs. Edgar Gardner has received without disturbing others. It will have tables for four and tables for two, air-conditioning, "vibration-less tables" free from water bottles, extra linen and silver, intercom telephone service and improved spotlight illumination.

These are not all of the improvements that are being discussed by railroad and Pullman executives in an effort to make railroad travel cheaper, more comfortable, faster—or all three—than competing transportation services.

They are just a few which have progressed so far that they can be expected to appear soon after the war ends.

Doddering Old Steer 'Tough' To Very Last

DENVER—For 17 years the Anderson Brothers, Whitewater, Colo., ranchers, have been exerting special effort at round-up time to trap a renegade steer which has annually eluded the fastest cowpunches and the cleverest traps of the cowboys.

Finally, the steer, grown too old and feeble to make good his escape, was rounded up and brought to the Denver stockyards. Weighing 1,312 pounds and measuring 14 hands and two inches in height, the animal was declared one of the "biggest, tallest and wildest" ever brought in from the range.

Sign of a good housekeeper!

SURE, there's a cobweb on that door. In a moment it will be gone with a flick of the duster. But right now, it's a sign of good housekeeping, for it shows that an unused bedroom has been closed off to save heat.

Be sure your heating system is clean and in good shape. Fire carefully. Pull your shades and draw the drapes at night. Close off unused bedrooms. For other suggestions see your coal dealer.

One of the biggest jobs of the C&O Lines is hauling coal from the mines along its routes, so we're in a position to understand the problem and to know how essential coal is these days.

There's going to be some shortage of coal delivered to homes this winter. This isn't because less coal is being produced. More coal is being mined this year than last. Mine owners and miners alike are doing a splendid job. And there are ample rail facilities for transporting coal.

But certain grades and sizes of coal are needed for war production. And, in addition, your local coal dealer is suffering from a shortage of manpower, trucks and tires. So be patient with him and make the coal you get go as far as possible.

Nimrods Prepare For Opening Of Pheasant, Rabbit Season

You Can Start Shooting At 11 a.m. Friday --- But Don't Hit More Than Four First Day

The day of all the year to which the majority of all hunters look forward, the opening of the general hunting and trapping season, comes at 11 a. m. Friday.

With the opening of the season once again comes that war-time shortage of shells. Despite continual optimistic reports all summer long that loads of shells would be available for everyone, the government hasn't released them in the proportions expected and nimrods are still grasping like hungry dogs for a handful of shells here and another handful there.

Local outlets reports their allotments of the precious commodity to be about one tenth of what they could use this season. The demand, according to the storekeepers, is greater than ever before. However, some shells were received in Salem last week and more are expected in about three weeks. They are being doled out now 10 to a customer.

It won't be too many—but it will keep a few hunters interested enough to keep going for a while. To legally participate a hunter (except a land owner, his tenant or members of their families hunting on their own premises) must have a hunting license and display an assigned number on his back. He is also duty bound to secure permis-

Pheasant, same opening date as rabbit, but closing Dec. 2; two cocks first day, four in possession thereafter.

Hungarian partridge, same dates as pheasant, but bag limit four, first day and thereafter, in possession at one time.

Grouse, Nov. 17 to Dec. 2, two first day, four in possession the limit thereafter.

Deer, Dec. 4 to 9, both dates inclusive; one buck, shotgun with buck shot only, no dogs.

Fur bearers: No bag limits. Skunk Nov. 17 to Jan. 20; opossum, same dates as skunk, Mink, Nov. 17-Jan. 20, inland—Nov. 17-Mar. 1, Lake Erie district.

Raccoon: Limit two in possession at any time in open season, Nov. 17-Jan. 20, to be taken only from 6 p. m. to 6 a. m.

Opossum, Nov. 17-Jan. 20, no bag limit.

Gray fox, no bag limit, no closed season.

Red fox, no bag limit; closed season only in the following counties: Noble, Brown, Highland, Adams, Scioto, Pike, Ross, Lawrence, Jackson, Vinton, Hocking, Athens, Meigs, Gallia, Nov. 17-Jan. 13. In the other counties the Red Fox may be taken and possessed throughout the year.

Fox may be taken with gun or with bow and arrow, or bow and arrow, or bow and arrow and dog or by trapping.

The waterfowl season closes Dec. 8; squirrel season closed Sept. 30.

LOTS OF ACTION EXPECTED IN OHIO ILLINOIS CONTEST

Illini Expecting Breaks To Catch Up With Them. Want Young Loose

By JIMMY JORDAN

CHICAGO, Nov. 14—You can take it from Doug Mills, athletic director at the University of Illinois. "There will be plenty of fireworks popping when the Illinois and Ohio State meet at Cleveland Saturday, and we expect to make our share of the explosions."

"We have had a few bad breaks at critical points in some of our games, notably the Notre Dame game," he said yesterday at the Wailing Wall, a weekly "post-mortem" on Midwestern football.

The boys feel it is time for the good breaks to catch up with us, and they are confident this will happen Saturday."

Mills based his prediction of Illinois fireworks on the hope that Buddy Young, Paul Patterson and Don Greenwood, who were kept pretty well bottled up by Michigan last week, would be shaken loose by the Illinois line. He said that with the possible exception of Eddie Bray, who suffered a recurrence of a knee injury last week, he expected the Illinois team to be at full strength.

Meanwhile, at Columbus, Coach Carroll Widdoes was taking no time out as he prepared for the game, which can clinch at least a share of the Western Conference title for the Buckeyes. He sent the squad through a long, strenuous workout.

Injured Back Coach Widdoes said that center and Captain Gordon Appleby, Tackle Bill Willis and Fullback Ollie Cline, sidelined with injuries last week, would be back at their regular posts against the Illini.

Elsewhere around the Midwestern grid loop: At Minneapolis, Dr. George Hauser gave Minnesota's Gophers a day off as a reward for their 19-14 upset of Indiana.

Coach Slip Madigan gave his Iowa Hawkeyes a day off, too, but expected them to be on the grid today to prepare for the Minnesota game while he travels to Madison, Wis. for the funeral of Allan Shafer, Wisconsin gridders who died of injuries suffered in the Iowa game Saturday.

"Wisconsin, saddened by the same tragedy, called off workouts until Wednesday. Michigan, preparing for the Badgers, polished its pass-defense yesterday and planned to stress its running attack in today's workout. Northwestern held a light workout in preparation for Notre Dame. Indiana took a day off before starting to work toward Saturday's game with Pittsburgh. Purdue's Bollermakers, who meet Navy at Annapolis, concentrated on blocking. Great Lakes held a light workout in preparation for Marquette.

ARMY-NAVY GAME NOW SELL - OUT

(By Associated Press)

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Nov. 14—The Army-Navy game is a sell-out.

Capt. C. O. Humphreys, Navy director of athletics, broke the news when he announced that "We have more than 19,000 applications and only 18,756 seats in Thompson stadium," even as a renewed drive to shift the game to a big stadium got under way in Washington.

Tom Forgie Takes Over Hockey Lead

(By Associated Press)

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 14—A nine point scoring attack, consisting of four goals and five assists today sent Tom Forgie, Hershey star, to the top of the American Hockey league's individual scoring battle with a total of 16 points.

Coming from nowhere, Forgie overtook Wendell Jamieson of Pittsburgh, who held to one assist, now finds himself sharing the runner-up spot with George Patterson of Hershey, each with 14 points.

Hershey and Pittsburgh players occupy all nine leading scoring places, and Ross Knopfel of the latter club leads in penalties with 15 minutes in the cooler. He's being hard pressed, however, by Cleveland's Pete Resone and Indianapolis' Frank Kane. They're 60 seconds off.

Outlines Plans For New Conservation Department

COLUMBUS, Nov. 14—J. F. Atwood, former state senator, yesterday outlined plans for a bill to create a new all-inclusive state conservation department.

At a meeting of the executive board of the League of Ohio Sportsmen, Atwood said the plans called for a director of conservation in the governor's cabinet to serve with a bi-partisan commission. The league also has recommended that the present conservation division be retained within the new department. It is also proposed that there be a chief of wildlife division in the department.

The conservation director would be paid $15,000 a year and each subdivision would have its own chief.

Ray Miller of Zanesville, president of the league, explained the organization no longer is interested in just fishing and hunting but has extended its activities to include all phases of conservation work such as forestry, water, minerals, soil, parks and wildlife. The annual convention of the league will be held here Feb. 19-20.

Bare Handful Of Football Teams Still Unbeaten And Untied In Ohio Grid Race

By HAROLD HARRISON

COLUMBUS, Nov. 14—From any angle you want to view it, the competition for the mythical Ohio High school football championship today had summured down to a bare handful of teams.

Probably not more than five or six outfits can be rated as major bidders for the title even though there still are at least 12 unbeaten and untied aggregations.

Whether you would want to put Cleveland Cathedral Latin, Toledo Libbey, Columbus North, Cincinnati Purcell, Athens or perhaps unbeaten Canton McKinley in the top spot is strictly a matter of preference but certainly Cathedral Latin threw a chill into a lot of the boys Saturday.

That 104 to 6 score it rolled up on Cleveland Central was one of the largest counts tallied in the history of Ohio School football. Latin, with eight straight triumphs, now is in this situation. It will meet Cleveland East Tech Saturday with the winner getting the right to meet Cleveland Lincoln in the annual charity game on Nov. 25.

The six points Central scored against Latin were the first to be tallied by any opponent this season and that touchdown must have been the blow that crushed them. It came in the third period when Latin was leading, 35 to 0. With the chances for a season-long uncrossed goal line gone, the furious Latin boys poured 69 points over the goal line in slightly more than one quarter of action.

Cincinnati Purcell was the only one of the other leaders who had much trouble. Its eighth victory of the season was by only a 13 to 6 margin over Cincinnati Xavier.

Toledo Libbey dropped Toledo Woodward, 26 to 0; Columbus North trounced Bexley, 27 to 6, and Athens finished with an 18 to 6 triumph over Logan.

The Athens victory, incidentally, was its 16th straight and made it two full seasons for the Bulldogs without a defeat or a tie.

Canton McKinley, refusing to be counted out of the race even though it has lost to Warren, added to its prestige by giving Lakewood its first setback of the season, 24 to 14. There was just too much Joe Pujazon for Lakewood.

The Bulldogs will wind up their season next Saturday against Massillon in the 49th renewal of their gridiron rivalry. McKinley has won 23 times, Massillon 22 and there have been three ties.

Lakewood Dropped

Lakewood as one of three teams to be beaten last week for the first time. The others were Wellington, trimmed by Rocky River, 26 to 19, and Columbus St. Charles, nosed out by Columbus Academy, 6 to 0.

A lot of the other unbeaten and untied teams have completed their seasons and among those who seem to be most deserving of recognition are St. Clairsville and Canton Township. St. Clairsville completed its second straight perfect season by licking Dillonville, 18 to 6.

Canton Township, which resumed football only this season, won its eighth straight from Millersburg, 48 to 7, with Benny Battista scoring three touchdowns and five extra points for a season's total of 150 points.

The other unbeaten and untied teams include Crooksville, New Philadelphia, Greenville, St. Mary's and Chaucery-Dover.

Despite Cleveland Cathedral Latin's huge total and Battista's scoring spree, the week-end's individual scoring honors went to Bob Demmel of Fremont Ross, who tallied six touchdowns and five extra points as his team walloped Fremont St. Joseph, 65 to 0.

SPORT CHATTER

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14—After last Saturday's game, Notre Dame has shipped "way back in the football ratings but you can't deny that the Irish have courage."

Ed McKeever proved it by showing up for both the football writers and sports broadcasters meetings yesterday.

After Linesman Dave Reese was hurt, McKeever and Col. Biff Jones were discussing what to do.

The Notre Dame coach remarked: "One thing that would help the game would be to let us have Blanchard and Davis for the next half."

QUOTE, UNQUOTE

Jimmy Johnston announcing that he has taken over Lou Nova's contract: "Now Lou intends to start chasing Joe Louis until he catches up with him. He may be sorry, but he'll be well paid."

SHORTS AND SHELLS

Ed Machaj, Yale's star pitcher, has had offers from four major league clubs. Machaj, who won 19 and lost four for the Elis, graduates in February and has been rejected by the services.

The Ray (Semi Pro) Dumont's latest brain wave is to sell lifetime tickets for the National tournament at Wichita. Ray says they'll pay the cost ($100) in three years and he'll only sell 50 each year.

END TO END

The normally mild Don Hutson became somewhat annoyed when a Cleveland player guarded him rather roughly last Sunday and gave him a good shove while he was going after one pass.

The Ram promptly offered to clip Hutson on the chin the next time that happened.

Came another Green Bay pass and Don headed directly for the defender, shouting "Get that clip ready, here I come." Then he neatly side-stepped as his rival got set to swing, went on to the end zone and taught a touchdown pass.

Cleveland Mourns As 61 Nameless Blast Victims Are Buried

(By Associated Press)

CLEVELAND, Nov. 14—Cleveland mourned today.

The city's 61 nameless victims of the East Ohio Gas Co. liquid gas explosion and holocaust of Oct. 20—fatal to 130 persons—were laid to rest in mass rites at suburban Highland Park cemetery.

Families and friends of the 61 persons listed as missing breathed hushed valedictions at services in which Protestant, Catholic and Jewish churchmen participated.

Several hundred mourners—widows and children, parents, friends—ringed a circular common burial plot where in concrete compartments received the individual caskets. Like sentinels of sorrow, young elm trees circled the final resting place of the disaster's anonymous victims.

Some of the silent onlookers were tearful; but many were dry-eyed—their weeping already was done. Comparatively few flowers rested on the numbered caskets.

Mayor Frank J. Lausche, Ohio's governor-elect, and other officials and executives of the gas company stood with bare heads beside the wind-swept graves. Almost symbolically, belated sunshine burst through gray clouds and enveloped the scene.

In motorcycle-flanked convoys of 15 hearses each, the bodies were taken from county morgue to the cemetery. Clevelanders paused to uncover—and pray—as the cortege passed along St. Clair ave., which borders the blast scene.

Claim 1,200 Killed In Tirpitz Bombing

NEW YORK, Nov. 14—The Stockholm Tidningen asserted today that 1,200 Germans died on the battleship Tirpitz Sunday, when British bombs sent it to the bottom of an Arctic fjord in Norway.

Many of the 800 rescued from the 2,000 in the crew were injured seriously because "the first direct hit compressed the exits and prevented the crew from getting out," the dispatch, distributed by OWI, said.

The Stockholm newspaper said "the greatest dismay" prevailed in Berlin naval circles. An investigation was reported started to determine why the superdreadnaught did not have better fighter plane protection, promised but not provided, the newspaper added.

"Berlin now believes in a British landing in Norway, and that the German army in Finland will be isolated completely," the dispatch said.

The War Today

aides should try to conceal the undoubted fact that, for some reason or other, he has been incapacitated. He may have been merely ill, and will reappear. But so delicate is the situation that the Nazi leaders would be afraid of a collapse of morale, both civilian and military, if it became known that the Fuehrer wasn't on the job.

Hitler's leadership is doubly essential now because the armies which have been fighting so fanatically believe they are supporting him personally. Don't forget that the attempt on his life in July 1944 marked the defection of a large section of the Prussian warlords who recognized that Germany was bound to lose the war. So personal loyalty has much to do with keeping the troops in line for him, though fear of Hitler's reprisals has played its part.

For these reasons I believe that if Hitler is permanently out of the picture for any reason, we shall see a slump in German morale which will hasten the end of the war. Hitler personally might hold Germany loyal for a considerable time. Hitler dead, ill or mad would be a blow the country could scarcely endure.

Nazi Order Meant Death For Men Who Displayed Cowardice

WITH THE U. S. SECOND ARMORED DIVISION. On the Western Front, Nov. 14—A captured German document disclosed today that the Nazis had ordered all soldiers to shoot their comrades or officers instantly "like a dog" if they observe the slightest decline in battle morale.

The order was published in Scorpion, a Nazi news commentary distributed to troops. The order was specifically applied to any German contemplating surrender. It was attributed to Heinrich Himmler, Gestapo head and commander of the German home army.

The Nazis acknowledged the critical position of the Reich in these words:

"Our will to resist is the only thing that we have left against the material superiority of our enemy until the new weapons are ready for the front. Therefore, whoever sabotages our will to resist must be smashed."

Scorpion summed up: "If soldiers observe ever the tiniest spark of softness or cowardice, that is the time to act and to eradicate the cancer before it causes disaster. If your responsible commander thinks or speaks about retreat, then you must act or the position is lost."

U. S. Loses 500 Tanks, 900 Trucks a Month

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's forces are losing 500 tanks and 900 trucks a month, says Undersecretary of War Patterson.

And Eisenhower is in "imperative need" of more artillery ammunition than we are producing, Patterson told a news conference, explaining that the general should have 3,500 tons a day for adequate support.

Patterson gave this general picture of the military supply situation:

Our artillery ammunition production has tripled since Jan. 1, but needs have risen even faster.

Other equipment essential if we are to intensify our offensives is running short, despite rising output.

We are short on tent cloth, airborne radar equipment, and other important items.

The problem does not result because anyone is falling down, he said. Requirements were met or most parts of the supply program. Production has been rising even or those which are short.

"But it is not coming up fast enough," Patterson declared.

Cigaretts Bring 88 Cents Pack At Chicago Auction

CHICAGO, Nov. 14—Twelve cartons of cigarettes were sold today for $106, or 88 1/3 cents a package, at the Chicago postoffice's semi-annual sale of unclaimed goods.

Offering a total of 82 cartons, plus miscellaneous loose packs in small lots, the auctioneer's announcement, "Here's what you've been waiting for," produced a bedlam of bidding.

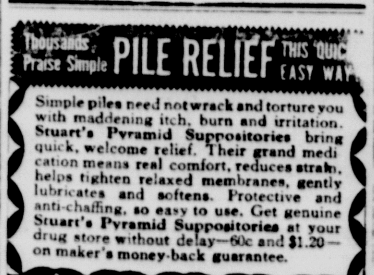

Purchaser of the first 12 cartons was the manager of a chain drug store, who said the cigarettes would be sold in downtown Chicago at the ceiling price of 18 1/2 cents a package.

The second batch of a dozen cartons was sold for $80 to a newspaper reporter.
